BumpCamera respects your privacy. Therefore:

1. No data of any kind is transmitted directly by BumpCamera to any server or other device other than what you specifically and actively request.

2. BumpCamera may save data in its directory onboard your device. This data is always visible to you via Apple's Files app. You can delete this data and prevent its creation via settings.

3. Personally identifying information is encrypted using Apple APIs.

4. No third party libraries were used, which increases the confidence in maintaining your privacy.

5. BumpCamera writes meta- and EXIF data to the images it creates. You can disable this entirely at your discretion.

6. The images you take are your property and copyrighted by you. The images you take are your sole responsibility and do not necessary reflect in anyway on BumpCamera or its developer.

7. If you select the option below,you will ensure maximum privacy at the cost of minor functionality – all filters will still work fully.